Metropolitan Chicago Healthcare Council Selects Strategic Health Services for Population Health Management

CHICAGO – The Metropolitan Chicago Healthcare Council (MCHC), a trusted leader in the health care industry, today announced that Strategic Health Services Inc. (SHS) will be the provider of choice for population health management solutions made available to its member organizations.

MCHC selected SHS for its demonstrated success through cost-effective and personalized solutions that reduce employer health care costs, and allow hospitals and health systems to generate revenues, while providing a comprehensive health program to their managed care populations.

“Meeting our members’ needs is MCHC’s top priority, and we are committed to providing them with innovative tools every step of the way,” said Kevin Scanlan, President and CEO of MCHC. “SHS’s proven methods will not only meet those needs, but will empower our members to build upon the world-class health care they provide to their employees and communities.”

In addition to offering the service to its member organizations, MCHC has selected SHS as the provider of population health management for its own employees.

SHS’s unique, innovative and interactive approach has demonstrated success for hospitals and health systems seeking cost-effective solutions to better manage the overall health of employees. Through powerful technology, expert services and unique data analysis, their solutions result in revenue generation and, most importantly, healthier employee and community populations.

“We are pleased to partner with such an influential and forward-thinking organization,” said Chris Caramanico, CEO of SHS. “Like us, MCHC knows that hospitals and health systems are the cornerstone of a healthy community — a role that will only increase in the future. We look forward to working with MCHC to transform the delivery of health care and create healthier and more productive employee and community populations.”
